Missouri Archaeological Society (MAS) is a not-for-profit organization whose goal is to promote the study and preservation of prehistoric and historical-period sites and remains.

What do you feel your contribution to the MAS Board/Trustees/committee would be?

All board members must be members of MAS and are expected to attend board meetings that are held in Columbia, Mo., normally in February, July, and October. There is also a short board meeting held during the MAS annual spring meeting which is held in Columbia in odd years and another city around the state in even years. A board member who has been absent from three consecutive meetings may be removed from the board.

Trustees must be members of MAS. There is a trustee's meeting in conjunction with the annual MAS meeting held in the spring in Columbia in odd years and another city around the state in even years. They are expected to help in their community and further the purposes of MAS.
